

Reception 24th June to 17th July 2019
Home Learning for 'A Grand Party'

In PSED: Our families are the first community to which we belong and they make us feel safe and loved. The children will be using their learning values of "Emotional Intelligence" and "Thinking" to find out many things about their Grandparents such as what they like to eat, music they listen to and what they did when they were little. The children will learn how good it feels to do something for those we love and show them how special they are.

In CLL & Literacy: We will plan and organise 'A Grand Party' for our grandparents. We will need to create and write; invites, place mats, menus and decorations. We will also be designing and making amazing show stopper cakes for everyone to enjoy!

In UW: Children will use their historical enquiry skills to think about what they have found out about older generations and compare this against their own experiences, interests and daily activities.

After finding a mysterious box full of old objects, the children will become historians. They will think about who these items could belong to and will describe some differences between these old things, and some of the objects they have at home in 2019. They will think about their grandparents and how their childhoods may have been different to their own. They will also think about all they have learnt from their grandparents and why they are so special to them.

Learning Value: Emotional Intelligence

- Thinking about our grandparents and why they are special to us.
- Making others feel happy by doing something kind e.g. inviting them to our party.
- Thinking about other children's ideas, not just our own.
- Understanding how to behave in a particular role and adapting our behaviour.
- Learning for ourselves and feeling proud of our achievements.
